Tobacco Retailer Licensing

Matrix of Strong Local Tobacco Retailer Licensing Ordinances

March 2011

In order to reduce illegal sales of tobacco products to minors, many cities and counties in California have adopted strong local tobacco retailer licensing ordinances. This document highlights 86 ordinances in which the fee and enforcement provisions are particularly noteworthy. Although more than one hundred communities throughout the state have passed tobacco retailer licenses, some of them do not contain provisions that would make them effective. A strong local tobacco licensing law is defined as one that includes the following four components:

- License that all retailers must obtain in order to sell tobacco products and that must be renewed annually.
- A fee set high enough to sufficiently fund an effective program including administration of the program and enforcement efforts. An enforcement plan, that includes compliance checks, should be clearly stated.
- Coordination of tobacco regulations so that a violation of any existing local, state or federal tobacco regulation violates the license.
- A financial deterrent through fines and penalties including the suspension and revocation of the license. Fines and penalties should be outlined in the ordinance.

The 86 communities that have adopted these strong ordinances are detailed on the following pages in reverse chronological order from most recently passed and listed here in alphabetical order: Albany, Arroyo Grande, Baldwin Park, Banning, Beaumont, Berkeley, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Calabasas, California City, Calimesa, Canyon Lake, Carson, Cerritos, Coachella, Compton, Concord, Contra Costa County, Corona, Culver City, Davis, Delano, Desert Hot Springs, Eastvale, El Cajon, El Segundo, Elk Grove, Firebaugh, Gardena, Glendale, Goleta, Grass Valley, Grover Beach, Hawthorne, Hemet, Hollister, Inglewood, Kern County, La Canada Flintridge, Lake Elsinore, Lawndale, Lomita, Long Beach, Los Angeles (City), Los Angeles County, Menifee, McFarland, Mendocino County, Montebello, Monterey Park, Moreno Valley, Murrieta, Nevada City, Norco, Oakland, Pacifica, Palmdale, Pasadena, Perris, Rancho Cordova, Richmond, Riverside (City), Riverside County, Sacramento (City), Sacramento County, San Fernando, San Francisco, San Gabriel, San Jacinto, San Luis Obispo (City), San Luis Obispo County, Santa Ana, Santa Barbara (City), Santa Barbara County, Santa Clara County, Santa Monica, Sierra Madre, Solana Beach, South Pasadena, Tehachapi, Temecula, Union City, Vista, Wasco, Wildomar and Yolo County.

For each ordinance, the Matrix contains information about the population of the city or county, the license fee amount, enforcement details, the schedule of license suspensions/revocations, any additional provisions and local contact information.

The details of the ordinances outlined in the Matrix demonstrate that strong ordinances can be adopted in many communities and that the details are flexible enough to be tailored to the specific community realities and needs. Strong licensing ordinances have been adopted by cities in eighteen different counties in both rural and urban areas. In addition, ordinances have been adopted in both small (Nevada City – pop. 3,040, Firebaugh – pop. 6,941) and large cities (Los Angeles – pop. 4,094,764, San Francisco – pop. 856,095). The fees range from $30 for some smaller cities with only a couple of retailers to $665, with the majority of fees between $200 - $350. Enforcement and compliance checks for these ordinances are handled by a variety of different agencies including the police department, sheriff’s department, public health department, code enforcement and others.

The Technical Assistance Legal Center (TALC) has a model tobacco retailer licensing ordinance available at http://www.phlpnet.org/tobacco-control/products/Licensing\_Ordinance. For questions about the model ordinance, contact Ian McLaughlin with TALC at 510-302-3315. While all the ordinances on this matrix are considered strong, they are not all exactly like the TALC model ordinance. Most significantly, some communities pay for compliance checks through other sustainable funding sources. Although finding alternative funding sources may not be possible in most communities, we have included these ordinances because there may be locations where these strategies make sense. These ten ordinances are listed in a separate section starting on page 33.

The Center has additional documents on tobacco retailer licensing, including a fact sheet on the effectiveness of these ordinances and a document with answers to tough questions from opponents and elected officials about tobacco retailer licensing, available at www.Center4TobaccoPolicy.org/localpolicies-licensing.

Strong Tobacco Retailer Licensing Ordinances With Other Stable Funding Sources

The ordinances passed by the previous communities listed include fees that pay for comprehensive enforcement programs and compliance checks. These ordinances, along with the TALC model ordinance, are the best examples because of the fees that cover administration and enforcement. The last ten ordinances are still strong, but they do not have dedicated fees to pay for enforcement. The enforcement and compliance checks in these ordinances are funded through other stable and sustainable sources.
